ONE ALREADY IS DEAD

Have Been Trapped in Gold
Mine for Past 11
Days

MOOSE RIVER, N. S., Apr. 22.—(INS)—Inspired by hope that a rescue was imminent, crews of men hacked away with desperate determination today to free the two men near death and a man already dead in the subterranean tomb, in which they have been trapped for 11 days.

Slow but sure progress was rewarded when shortly before 9 a. m., eastern standard time, Deputy Inspector of Mines, Arthur Phillips reported only a few feet of rock separates the workers in the Moose River gold mine from the entombed men.

"Steady progress has been made in cutting through the rock and slate and we expect to have completed the rescue within a few hours."

This encouraging word on the status of the thrilling battle to snatch Dr. D. E. Robertson and Alfred Scadding from death in the gold mine in which they have been imprisoned for 11 days, came early today from Michael Dwyer, minister of mines for Nova Scotia, who is directing the excavating work.

Dr. Robertson, who labored furiously throughout the night in a driving rain and wind storm, reported just as dawn streaked over the Nova Scotia hill country that the shaft being sunk to the entombed pair was within 15 feet of a tunnel leading directly to the spot where the men sit huddled in the darkness. This tunnel is believed to be clear, but if it is not it is believed only loose rock and dirt will be found, which can be removed with comparative ease.

Shortly before 3 a. m., Dr. Robertson shouted into the improvised microphone, through which contact with the imprisoned men was effected, "We believe we're good for another 48 hours... but please hurry."

VIVIAN HOUSER WINS
GIRLS' SONG CONTEST

Winning Essay for Boys Submitted by John Murray, Spruce Street

P O E M IS PUBLISHED

Vivian Houser, aged 13 years, is the winner of the girls' song contest for Youth Week.

This young miss, who resides at 344 McKinley street, is a student in section 8-3, high school building.

The song of which Miss Houser is the author, is written to be sung to the tune of "Flying Out the Banner." The three verses, which are to be sung by youths in Bristol churches next Sunday morning follow:

Youth Week is here, it's come, it's come,
Ring out the good news everyone!
Come! Youths we'll spread the news afar,
We'll spread the good news near and far!

Youth Week is here, it's here, it's here,
We've spread the good news far and near!
No matter what your race may be,
Come join us in this week of glee.

Be a good sport if you don't win.
Come on, be soldiers, laugh and grin.
Be not afraid of what you do,
Because He's watching over you.

Honorable mention in the song contest is made of the offering of Jane M. Lynch, 244 Madison street, who is also aged 13, and a student in section 8-3.

The judges in this contest as well as in the essay contest for boys were: Miss Marian B. Smith, Mrs. Linton Martin and Mrs. Joseph Smith. Robert Ruehl, a past president of Bristol Rotary Club, supervised the contests.

A request is made by those in charge of Youth Week activities for the ward leaders to familiarize the boys and girls in their wards with the song, so that such may be well sung in the churches on Sunday next.

The essay contest conducted among the boys was won by John Murray, 16, 739 Spruce street, a student in the eighth grade, high school building. Receiving honorable mention are: First, Leonard Fell, Harriman 8-2; and second, Harrison Fisher, Bristol high school. The winning essay will be read in each of the Bristol churches on Sunday morning next by a boy chosen to fill this role in each edifice.

No special topic was assigned for the essays, but the choice was made on the basis of those best expressing the spirit of Youth Week.

There were 16 entries in the song contest; and seven in the essay contest.

THE LITTLE FELLOW PAYS THE TAXES

(New York American, April 20, 1936)

What this country needs instead of a nickel cigar is an understanding of the fact that the citizen to whom a nickel is a lot of money is a taxpayer.

The tax collector follows you around like a hound dog on the heels of a rabbit. He does not care how poor you are.

You do not have to be a "big shot" with a mansion on the avenue to have a tax collector under your feet.

Your pay envelope may be thinner than a snooper's conscience, but a large part of whatever is in it is paid out BY YOU in taxes.

The smaller your income, the more taxes hurt you—because you can ill afford to pay them. The big fellow pays more taxes than you do, of course, because he is able to buy more things—but they do not hurt him as much because he still has something left. And the taxing tentacles will soon be reaching farther down into the lower income brackets.

If you are a "little fellow," you need ALL your money to buy necessities for yourself and family. The part of your income you pay out in taxes is just like a CUT IN PAY because you can't buy anything with it.

You may not own a home. If you did, you would know the tax collector by his first name. But you pay rent. And a substantial part of your rent receipt is for taxes your landlord has paid and has passed on to you.

Your rent receipt is a tax receipt. You would be shocked to know how much of your rent pays taxes. They have been handed along to you from dozens of sources you probably never heard of. But you hand them OUT, not on.

Your family, in spite of its modest circumstances, gets around to taking a holiday occasionally. You pile the children into the humble but faithful old bus on a Sunday afternoon.

But the tax collector rides right in your lap. He collects from you for gasoline, oil, tires and every part of the car. Taxes constitute a good part of the cost of the car itself, and its depreciation, which is a word meaning TOTAL LOSS, to you.

You stop at a roadside stand for a sack of red hots, a bag of peanuts or popcorn, soda pop or ice cream for the youngsters, a toy balloon for the baby, a bright knick-knack of some kind for the little woman, perhaps the rare luxury of a cigar for yourself.

Mr. Tax Collector holds out his hand each and every time you let go of a coin, no matter how small it is or what you spend it for.

This is not facetious. It is FACT. There are literally scores of taxes levied against every one of the most elemental things you buy. The truth is, you cannot buy anything without paying taxes.

The tax collector gets his dig out of every one of these things, and don't think he misses any of them. When you put a rib roast in front of your family (if you happen to be that rich), you have done your bit to keep the Government running from top to bottom.

Of course, you do not pay the tax on the rib roast directly to Uncle Sam. You pay your money to the butcher.

But in the price you have paid has been carefully figured your proportion of taxes that have been paid all along the line, from the time your rib roast was a contented cow in Farmer Jones' pasture until it had completed its travels through the stockyards, the packing house, the wholesaler's hands and all the other unavoidable waypoints.

It is the people who have to decide whether to invest a five-cent piece in a loaf of bread or in a bowl of soup who pay the bulk of the taxes in this country. This is true because there is no point further down the line to which they may shift the burden.

People who grow things, or make things, or sell things, all have the chance to figure taxes into prices. But people who buy things just line up at the counter and pay through the nose. The only thing the wage earners have a lot of is votes.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO VISIT PHILADELPHIA

Day To Be Known As Bucks County Day In Philadelphia

WILL SEE SHRINES

Friday is to be "Bucks County Day" in Philadelphia and that city is to be visited by school children of Bucks County who are to be taken on a trip.

Bucks county will go on the air at WIP on that day from 9.30 until 10 p. m., as the grand finale to a big day of activity that will start in the morning at 10 o'clock, when over 400 boys and girls from Bucks county schools will be welcomed by Mayor S. Davis Wilson at Independence Hall. This will be followed by a tour of the city of Philadelphia.

The tour was arranged by Louis Walton Siple, of the Pennsylvania Arts and Sciences Association at the request of several Bucks county schoolmen. It is an experiment and will be elaborated on next year not only by Bucks county but other suburban counties, if successful on April 24.

Junior High School pupils who will make the first trip will be from Springfield township, Bensalem township, Falls township, Upper Southampton township, Hilltown township, Lower Makefield township, Morrisville, Ivyland, Langhorne-Middletown, Newtown and a few one-room schools.

A special trip for the pupils who will appear in the broadcast has been planned to include an inspection inside the Wanamaker organ and a few other points of interest.

The Junior Chorus of Lower Makefield will open the program and the chorus from Bensalem will conclude it. The Bucks county violin champion, Joseph Puchta, of Quakertown High School, will feature two violin solos and the county trumpet champion, William McGowan, of Morrisville, and the runner-up, Anthony Thornley, also of Morrisville, will present two duets. A trio from "Carmen" will be sung by three girls from Doylestown High School, Alma Miller, Emily Taylor and Jeannette Mason.

All pupils will assemble at Independence Hall, 6th and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia, by 10 a. m., at which time the Mayor of Philadelphia will welcome them to the city and the newspapers will get their pictures to feature the trip in the metropolitan press.

From the Independence Hall area they will go to Franklin Institute, where at 11 a. m. they will be given a special demonstration of the planetarium, especially arranged for Bucks county pupils.

Leaving the planetarium about 11.45 they will go to the aquarium where the buses will park without time limit and where lunch will be eaten, either in the auditorium if weather is unpleasant or in the park if the weather is suitable. Dr. Robert O. VanDeusen, director of the aquarium, will speak to the children there.

From the aquarium they will walk up the steps to the Art Museum, where the party will be divided into groups, of say forty, with a guide in charge of each group. Leaving the Art Museum at 12.45 they will then go to the Zoological Gardens where Dr. MacDonald will have exhibits prepared for them and from 2.00 until they are ready to leave, the children may see the zoological materials, etc.

Fire Destroys Auto
And Morrisville Garage

MORRISVILLE, April 22.—Fire destroyed a garage and an automobile yesterday on Chedester avenue, Chedester Manor. Prompt efforts of the Morrisville fire department saved nearby buildings.

A truck driver, passing the garage, owned by Alex Katosh, saw flames shooting from the structure. He sounded an alarm which brought the Capitol View and the Union companies to the scene. Their efforts to halt the blaze proved futile. The automobile was owned by Louis Katosh, a son.

Katosh said he put his car away at six o'clock Monday night and that "everything appeared all right then." Chief Frank Miller and Assistant Chief Cleveland Reed, who directed efforts of the firemen, could not tell how the fire started.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1936

THIS IS HUMANE WEEK

This is Humane Week and it is being generally observed in a special effort to impress the public to be kind to animals.

Much progress has been made in educating the public to be kind to animals and today the number of cases where animals are ill-treated are fewer than they have been in former years.

Horses today are not called upon to over-tax themselves as they were in years gone by. Dogs are not beaten and cats are not tormented in the manner that they were a number of years ago. The number of cases where animals are inproperly fed has shown a marked decrease but cruelties still continue. While progress has been made there is still much to be desired and it is through education that much will be accomplished.

If you are a lover of animals you will treat them kindly and do your utmost to see that others do likewise.

Humane Week has been nationally celebrated since 1915, and is probably the most outstanding movement in the work for protection of animals since the founding of the American Humane Education Society, in 1889. In 1866 Mr. Henry Bergh of New York founded the first society for prevention of cruelty to animals in this country.

Not so many years before that time it is probable that a man might have beaten his horse or dog to death on a public street and gone unpunished, or even publicly condemned, but today all over the country there are societies organized to protect animals from cruelty, and many such organizations combine work for children—the need still exists to prevent cruelty to them—with that for the animals.

CHANGES IN SCHOOL

In Boston, a convention of teachers of penmanship laments the decline in this once highly regarded art. The widening use of the typewriter, even by children, has brought on an indifference to the copper-plate hand, once deemed a requisite to success in later life.

Meanwhile, in Chicago, school authorities have invented a "cheat proof" report card, a 40-page document, giving the child's whole scholastic history. Carbons are sent to the parents, and any changes in marks are quickly detected by comparison with the original.

So it seems the day is passing when a neat bit of altering in the laggard scholar could give a school card a specious appearance of health, and gone, too, is the day when one could find in any high school class an other, but sufficiently skilled in Spencerian flourishes to forge a parent's name. It may be Chicago's way of nipping the latent criminal in the bud; but it also depicts a notion that school today is entirely a snare. It can't be, if the scholar isn't to be permitted a little ingenious doctoring of his card.

The American Bankers Association is lauded for holding a banquet without speeches. Still, a thing like this could lead to repressed desires and spontaneous combustion.

In repeating itself history never uses the formula, "Stop me if you have heard this."

Nobody ever gets interested in the small end of the horn of plenty.

That is why the tax spenders are so anxious to keep hoods over the heads of the real taxpayers. If these millions of "little fellows" ever learn the truth about taxes, they will not be so easily swindled out of their votes.

The tax spenders want the people to believe tax matters do not concern them. They want the people with most of the votes to think the taxpayers are the landlords, merchants, bankers, manufacturers and all the other "big income" gentry.

In short, they encourage the fallacy that the whole tax load is on the shoulders of "big business."

As long as the people do think this, they will laugh at high taxes and take sort of a vicarious delight in the plight of the "rich suckers." While this is the state of the public mind, the wastrels at the helm of Government will not bother about trying to account for what they spend.

It will make a vast difference in American politics when politicians are forced to account for the taxes they raise and spend to the millions of "little fellows." They will be careful, then, to spend less.

And right there is the answer to the whole problem of depression.

Get the Government off the back of the people.

Keep Government spending on a rigid basis of economy and necessity. Give business a chance to prosper and build up payrolls.

Make your Government quit taxing the lining out of your pay envelope, and you will get a taste of this "more abundant life" that has been dinned into your ears.

But until you do that, do not kid yourself that you are not paying your share of the bill for all the governmental extravagance and Communist experimentation going on in Washington and elsewhere.

THEODORE R. GARDNER FOR CONGRESS

Two years ago, when the New Deal was at the height of its influence, Theodore R. Gardner of Lehigh County, was the unanimous choice of the outstanding Republicans of that County for the Republican nomination for Congress.

The fact he was a young man was regarded as one of his greatest assets, and the argument in this respect was, that our problems being what they are, coupled with the likelihood that several years will elapse before the Republicans can come into the control of the Senate, Mr. Gardner possessed a life expectancy which would enable him, by successive re-elections, to gain the knowledge, the experience and the prestige of continued service which would make him an invaluable asset to his party and his constituency alike.

Mr. Gardner campaigned in Bucks County, and these arguments, combined with his character and evident ability, so impressed the Republicans of Bucks County, that in the November Election of 1934 they gave him a substantial majority.

Mr. Gardner, a lawyer and United States Commissioner, born in Allentown, a graduate from Muhlenberg College and the University of Pennsylvania Law School, who served a two-year enlistment in the United States Navy, at the expiration of which he was honorably discharged, possesses the same qualifications today as he did two years ago, but strangely enough, he is being opposed for the Republican nomination at the approaching Primary by one who was foremost among those who prevailed upon him to make the anxious, two years ago and under far less promising circumstances.

Shall the man who was willing to carry the standard in 1934, be turned down now because others desire to step in when they see the assurance of Republican victory in this contest?

We ask your support of acknowledged ability, straightforward integrity and fair play, by marking your ballot for Theodore R. Gardner for Congress, at the Primary Election, Tuesday, April 28th.

The remainder of the evening was spent in a social way, followed by refreshments.

Details as to design and date of release were deferred, but "It is expected that the new stamp will be placed on sale for the first time at Walla Walla, Washington, and Lewistown, Idaho, where Oregon Territory centennial celebrations will be held this year."

Department release commented: "It was largely through the pioneering efforts of the early settlers in the Oregon Territory that there was brought about a great influx of immigration to this region, which today constitutes one-seventh of the total area of the United States."

Postmaster General Farley has announced that he authorized the issuance of a special souvenir sheet of stamps in connection with the Third International Philatelic Exhibition to be held in the Grand Central Palace, New York City, May 9-17, 1936. The sheet will comprise the last four stamps issued Michigan, Connecticut, California and Texas.

MIDDLE-WEIGHT CHAMPION FIGHTS AT ARENA TONIGHT

Ten bouts between boys who have proved their worth in the squared ring have been arranged by Matchmaker Mickey Giordano to strut their stuff tonight at the Croydon Arena. Every bout has been sanctioned by the Middle Atlantic Association, in what promises to be one of the best cards offered to local fight fans.

Joe Sankey, newly crowned middle-weight champion of this district, who represents the Germantown Boys' Club, will defend his title for the first time against Joe Lombardi, Daggett slasher, in the wind-up of 10 bouts. Sankey, who made a great hit with the fans at the Philadelphia Arena, in winning the title, is a two-fisted and clever fighter who delights in mixing it with his opponent. In Lombardi, he will stack up against a rugged lad who recently defeated Sankey at the Camden Arena just before he won the title. Matchmaker Giordano had a hard time getting these two boys together.

Three return matches also appear on the card. By popular request these bouts were signed up at the ringside last week.

Johnny Cubbins, Germantown Boys' Club, will go an encore with Fred Aspero, Neighborhood Club. Cubbins, who is a former champion, had all he could do to cop the decision in their last encounter. Aspero, one of the gamiest boys to wear the silken togs, was coming strong toward the finish, and had Cubbins almost out on his feet. The crowd gave both boys a wonderful ovation at the finish.

Jack Carter, the Daggett windmill, will meet John Welsh, of the Germantown Boys' Club, in another encore. Their last bout was a corker. Carter, who is a great favorite with the fans, has a pleasing style of fighting, and a boy who proved that he can take it. Welsh has trained diligently for this scrap and reported in the best shape of his career. Welsh, the underdog, had the crowd yelling to put his opponent to sleep. It was due to the stamina of Carter that he did not accomplish the feat.

Carl Schmidt, Nativty C. C., who defeated Jimmy Nocita last week, will go against a tough foe in Billy Crawford, Daggett. Tommy Francis, Germantown, against Johnny Acker, Daggett, and Al Rutis, Germantown Boys' Club, will go a return with Stanley Jakulski, Daggett.

Mario Loungo, Germantown Boys' Club, another great Italian boy who has made a great hit wherever he has shown, will meet Henry Seida, of the Daggett. Loungo, who will be making his first appearance in this locality, has fought and defeated Roosevelt Rowe twice; also Harry Devlin, and the fans can rest assured that they will witness another rip-roaring battle.

Billy Leighton, Bucks County Rescue Squad, one of the best little batters in this vicinity, will battle Al Hall of the Kensington Club. Charley Shea, a youngster from the Northeast Shrine, who made a great hit with his sensational fighting when he got up from the floor and knocked out Harry McCord, Kensington Club, last week, will meet Bob Hinchcliffe, another Kensingtonian, in another fight. Joe Meyers, of Croydon, will go against Charlie Haggerty, of Kensington, while Jimmy Lefferts, of Daggett, will again collide with Walter Rhoads, of Kensington. This bout last week ended in a knock-out for Rhoads, and Lefferts was the most surprised boy when the referee told him the bout was over. Lefferts claimed he was not hurt, but missed the count.

The management is arranging to handle a large crowd, for the demand of tickets is far exceeding any previous show so far. Accommodations can be had by calling Bristol 2933.

FALLSINGTON FALLS BEFORE HIGH SCHOOL IX.

By Jack Orr

Exhibiting some fine inside baseball, the Bristol High School Bunnies won their second consecutive Lower Bucks County League contest by defeating a scrappy Orange and Black nine from Fallsington High by the count of 5-4, here, yesterday.

The Cardinal and Gray came through with the winning tallies in the fourth frame. With one down Grimes sent a triple to deep right center. Dom Sagolla was passed and he went down on the first pitch. With men on second and third Johnnie Stallone dumped a beautiful bunt down the third base line and as Tom Jones, Falls third sacker was throwing out Stallone, both Grimes and Sag counted. It was a fine exhibition of the squeeze play and as was proved later meant the ball game.

Hystie Grimes started for the home-esters and twirled two-hit ball until the sixth when he found himself in hot water through no fault of his own. Vic Roberts smashed a long fly to the garden where two of the Bunny fly chasers collided in an attempt to snag the pill. It was good for two bases. Bill Lovett, Orange and Black crowd pleaser, smashed a screaming hit to center. The ball took an uncanny hop and the Falls captain circled the bases scoring behind Roberts.

Briegle followed Lovett's smash with a drive to right which rolled away from the fielder and Briegle counted for the third Falls tally of the stanza. Here Grimes was lifted and Billy Gallagher was sent to the peak. Capello hoisted a single to center. Schaeffer whiffed. Jones made it two on with his drive to right but Gallagher fanned. Whitey Johnson to end the frame.

Walt Anderson, left handed curve ball artist, went the route for the visitors and allowed the hard hitting homesters but nine bingles. The Falls aggregation made six from the combined hurling of Grimes and Gallagher.

Grimes in his five and one-third innings on the hill fanned seven while walking one. His successor whiffed five in the two frames which he toiled. Anderson struck out two and passed two of the locals.

The Bunny hitters were led by Dom Sagolla and Johnnie Dick with the stick. The former had a perfect day at the plate with a one-bagger and a triple to his credit as well as a pair of walks. Johnnie connected for his third round tripper of the season and added a double for four trips to the platter.

Bill Lovett drove in three of the Falls runs with his home run and single. His mark was two for three.

Thursday the Bunnies travel to Newtown to battle the Blue and White in a game which may decide the Lower Bucks County League race. Newtown, defending champions, have been successful in their two league contests as have the Bunnies.

TWO OUTSTANDING CHALLENGERS TO MEET

TRENTON, Apr. 22—Two outstanding challengers for the title that Dick Shikat seems unwilling to risk against logical contenders will tangle at the Arena mat tonight and the loser will cease to be an outstanding challenger. One of them, Chief Little Wolf, is a Navajo Indian and the other Joe Cox, springs from a Kansas City family but makes his home in Ohio.

With the winning records that both men have compiled the past few seasons most mat observers agree that either Wolf or Cox, together with Detton, Robert and Managoff rate an even chance against the wrestlers that are claiming the title in various sections of the country—Dan O'Mahony in New England, Vincent Lopez in California and Shikat everywhere.

The latter downed O'Mahony but Dick has repeatedly refused to meet Cox and has lost to Little Wolf. Both are willing to meet the German again but he persistently sidesteps them.

Little Wolf and Cox are undefeated on the local mat. Cox has mowed down all his opposition including Dr. Len Hall and Serge Kalmikoff and was held to a 30 minute draw by Ivan Managoff. Little Wolf downed Fred Grubmeir, Emil Dusek, Abe Kashey, John Swenski and fought two thrilling deadlocks with Dean Detton and Joe Savoldi, who fell victim to Cox in Newark recently.

The Indian and Cox are two of the sturdiest men in the game and have demonstrated that they have enormous ability to absorb punishment. Little Wolf's attack is more potent due to his use of the famous Indian Deathlock and his Bulldog headlock. No other grappler in the sport uses the deathlock with as much effectiveness as the Navajo, whose ancestors used it as a torture method.

They meet over the best two fall out of three route, 90 minute time limit route.

A sterling set of supporting bouts will precede the main event. Hank Barber, sensational Jewish star, meets Sailor Al Billings, U. S. Navy champion in the semi-windup, that should be a rip-roaring. Al Bisignano, classy Italian youngster, who has not lost a bout here this season, faces tough Abe Kashey, Syrian Assassin and Ivan Managoff, dynamic Russian American, faces rowdy Harry Finklestein, Boston Hebrew.

The first bout will start at 8.30.

HARRIMAN WINS CROWN AS BOWLING CHAMPIONS

The National Bowling League first half winners, K. of C., and Harriman, second half winners, met Monday night to determine the champions of that league. The Knights were the favorites to take the younger quintet over without a struggle, but this match proved the uncertainty of the best team winning when the Sixth ward boys started right off at the beginning and piled up a 95-pin advantage in taking the first game, then lost the second by 66 pins. After this game they set out to win the next two games, and total pins for four out of five points. Jobson was the big gun for the Harriman team with a total of 677. Bailey, of K. of C., was the best man of the match, topping the pins for a total of 680. The scores of the match were:

Defense Minister Tells of Belgium

would be able to cross as it did in 1914.

"I want to stress the fact that Belgium is pursuing a wholly independent program of military defense based only on two obligations—the League of Nations and Locarno," Devaze declared, emphasizing his declaration with a firm gesture. "It is only natural for our general staff to confer with France's and England's," he continued, "for we are faced by the same geographical problems."

"But it is wrong to refer to our fortifications as a mere continuation of the French Maginot line. Our fortifications are independent, based on our own needs, but of course taking our neighbors into consideration."

This view was supported by the location of Belgium's fortifications, which although useless from an offensive viewpoint, were in position to oppose the entry of an invading army from the east, even if it were to attempt to pass by way of Holland.

The minister for public defense, who corresponds to the minister for war in other countries, confirmed this correspondent's impression that Belgium expects a new invasion, if attempted, to push through Holland. That obviously could be the only explanation for the enormous subterranean fortresses constructed alongside Holland, and the series of fortified waterways being linked together all along the Belgian side of the Dutch frontier. The Belgians certainly do not expect the Dutch to invade them.

Devaze often is referred to as the father of the present-day Belgian defenses. He is a medium-sized man, quick in his movements, a wee bit dark. He is democratic and amiable, but fast and to the point. He is cautious in what he says, started life as a lawyer, and is a civilian and not a military man.

The interview took place in his home, a moderate private house with an American steel filing cabinet in the downstairs parlor, and two painted beer mugs on the mantle-piece. It is an old-fashioned home, giving an impression of solidity, with a large fireplace with real logs, and a high ceiling.

Devaze pointed out that in the controversy over the demilitarization of the German Rhineland, Belgium adopted an independent policy from the outset. "We did not consider Germany's action as an immediate war menace," he declared, "and so we did not send troops to our frontier points. Instead we are seeking a permanent solution, and simultaneously we are reconsidering the problem of permanent defenses."

He pointed out that the Belgian occupation of frontier lines had been based on the assumption that the German army was miles away. "With an army across the frontier, the problem of continued preparedness becomes acute."
